

learning on screen

24 March 2011
Conference & Awards

Programme

Enhancing the Learning Experience

British Universities
Film & Video Council
moving image and sound, knowledge and access

HIGHER EDUCATION
FUNDING COUNCIL hefce
FOR ENGLAND

JISC

Welcome to the 2011 Learning on Screen Conference & Awards, organised by the British Universities Film & Video Council. We are delighted to welcome our speakers, award nominees and delegates to what we hope will be an informative, inspiring and enjoyable day and evening for everyone involved.

Programme

- | | | | |
|---------|---|--------|---|
| 11.00am | Welcome and introduction – NFT3 | 2.15pm | Learning Spaces – Meeting student expectations in an ever changing digital world
Toni Kelly, Head of Learning Space Development, University of Birmingham
Higher education teaching has been provided in the same traditional learning spaces for years. However, today's students have more access to information than ever before and require flexible and adaptable learning spaces to meet constantly changing needs. |
| 11.15am | BBC Archives – The Future in the Past
Tony Ageh, Controller, BBC Archive Development
What is the BBC's archive strategy and how will it benefit education and the wider community? | 2.45pm | Afternoon break – Delegate Centre |
| 11.45am | Opening Doors on Windows – Using moving image and sound in teaching and learning at City of Glasgow College
Alison McCandlish, Historic Scotland Teaching Fellow, City of Glasgow College
How can moving image and sound be used within further education to enhance learning and teaching? How do different groups of students with varied learning preferences and expectations engage with it? | 3.15pm | Screenwriting Principles for Educational Video
Jack Koumi, Educational Media Production Training
A framework of micro-level design principles for educational video, developed at the BBC Open University. |
| 12.15pm | Boxing Clever? Developing a single search environment for BUFVC databases
Ciara Chambers, Lecturer in Film Studies, University of Ulster and Linda Kaye, Research Executive, BUFVC
How searching outside the box might provide the answer to the development of federated search across digital scholarly resources. | 4.00pm | Update on the BUFVC
Luis Carrasqueiro, Chief Executive, BUFVC |
| 12.45pm | Lunch – Delegate Centre | 4.15pm | Q&A with speakers |
| 1.45pm | The Student Perspective
Emily-Ann Nash, Vice President Academic Affairs, University of Brighton and member of the NUS' HE Zone Committee
A look into student requirements and perceptions of e-learning, ICT and the use of moving image and sound in teaching. | 4.55pm | Closing remarks |
| | | 5.00pm | Drinks reception to open evening programme – Mezzanine |
| | | 6.30pm | Learning on Screen Awards Ceremony 2011 – NFT3
Presented by Michael Cockerell, political documentary maker, author and broadcaster |

Followed by a drinks and canapé reception in the Delegate Centre

Please join us to celebrate with all the nominees and winning entrants.

N.B. This programme is subject to minor revisions.

Speaker Information

Tony Ageh

Controller, BBC Archive Development

Tony Ageh describes himself as a Creative Strategist. He is currently the BBC's Controller of Archive having previously been the BBC Controller, Internet. He is – along with Ben Lavender – also the creator of the BBC iPlayer, which launched to wide acclaim in December 2008. He joined the BBC from the UK listings and information service UpMyStreet in 2002 where he was the Publisher and created many innovative services including FindMyNearest, the UK's first proximity location engine.

Alison McCandlish

*Historic Scotland Teaching Fellow,
City of Glasgow College*

Alison's role involves a combination of teaching and research, helping to ensure that students have the opportunity to learn about traditional buildings as well as new build technology. Prior to her appointment in her current role Alison worked in Local Government in Scotland and England in conservation and town planning.

Dr Ciara Chambers

Lecturer in Film Studies, University of Ulster

Dr Ciara Chambers is a Lecturer in Film Studies with a research interest in newsreels, archives and amateur images. She has also worked for Northern Ireland Screen, Belfast Exposed Photography, The Nerve Centre and on the University College Cork and Irish Film Archive collaborative project 'Capturing the Nation'.

Linda Kaye

*Research Executive,
British Universities Film & Video Council*
Linda Kaye has worked as a film archivist (British Film Institute) and conservator (Tate). At the BUFVC she developed and managed, in partnership with universities, several AHRC projects involving large-scale digitization components which currently include Channel 4 and British Film Culture (with the University of Portsmouth).

Emily-Ann Nash

Vice President Academic Affairs, University of Brighton

Emily is currently in her second term as Vice President Academic Affairs at Brighton Students' Union and nationally is an elected member of the NUS' Higher Education Committee. Through her roles she is continuously pushing the e-learning agenda to ensure the potential benefits it can bring to the learning and teaching experience are realised.

Toni Kelly

Head of Learning Space Development, University of Birmingham

Starting as an Estate Planner, Toni has worked at the University of Birmingham for 18 years. She set up and managed an AV team to support the central learning spaces prior to moving onto designing learning spaces. Toni is also Chair of SCHOMS (Standing Conference for Heads of Media Services).

Jack Koumi

Educational Media Production Training

Jack Koumi was a university lecturer for 6 years, before spending 22 years as a BBC Open University producer in Mathematics, Science, Teacher Training and Media Design. Jack has published many papers and the book Designing video and multimedia for open learning, Routledge 2006.

Learning on Screen Awards Ceremony presented by:

Michael Cockerell

Political documentary maker, author and broadcaster

With over 40 years experience, Michael Cockerell has achieved more than any other journalist in illuminating the workings of the British political system. Having been a reporter on the flagship current affairs programme Panorama, he now specialises in in-depth documentaries on the politics and players of Westminster, including biographical profiles on Edward Heath, Barbara Castle, Roy Jenkins and David Cameron. Most recently he reported on the BBC4 three-part series The Great Offices of State.

Awards Ceremony

Welcome to the Learning on Screen Awards 2011. The nominations are:

General Education Broadcast Award

Inside Nature's Giants: Giant Squid
Windfall Films

Race & Intelligence: Science's Last Taboo
Windfall Films

Sectioned
The Open University/BBC/Maverick

Tackling Drugs
Mike Dick Productions Ltd

General Education Non Broadcast Award

Family Group Conferences for Adults
Solent Productions

Free Health Checks Instructional DVD
Media and Learning Technologies,
Aston University

L2K
Kent Fire & Rescue Service

VORTEX
The Open University and the Hunnia Filmstudio Budapest

General Education Multimedia Award

Colonial Film: Moving Images of the British Empire
BFI, Birkbeck College & UCL

Open Politics Vodcasts
Angel Eye & The Open University

Top Teeth
BBC Northern Ireland

Who do you think you really are?
Natural History Museum

Courseware and Curriculum Award (Non-Broadcast)

BBC Bang Goes the Theory Teacher's Pack
BBC

The GALS Screen (Gait, Arms, Legs, Spine)
Video Production Unit, University of Nottingham

Me and Orson Welles Learning Resources
Film Education

Courseware and Curriculum Award (Multimedia)

How to Train Your Dragon Interactive CD-Rom and Website
Film Education

Scrubbing Up
St George's, University of London
& Interactive Solutions

Some Dogs Bite Interactive
Kindle Entertainment/
BBC Learning

The Tate Movie Project Website
Tate, Fallon, BBC Learning
& Aardman Animations

Student Production Undergraduate & F.E.

sponsored by  avid.com

From a Book
Cleveland College of Art & Design

It Takes Two
NEW College, Bromsgrove

Small Hours
University of Gloucestershire
& Holeshot Films

Way Back When
The Tank Museum (The Arts University College at Bournemouth)

Student Production Postgraduate

sponsored by  avid.com

The Confession
National Film and Television School

Creating Life: the Ultimate Engineering Challenge
Science Communication Group,
Imperial College London

Sarajevo: Shelved Memories
Cinema Humain and Blue Hippo Media in association with the University of Reading

Stanley Pickle
National Film and Television School

A Special Jury Award and Premier Award will also be presented on the evening.

The British Universities Film & Video Council welcomed the following judges for the Learning on Screen Awards 2011:

Chair: Sir Ron Cooke, former Vice Chancellor of the University of York and former Chair of the JISC. Knighted for his services to HE in 2002.

Dr Alice Bell, Senior Teaching Fellow in Science Communication, Imperial College London

Taylor Downing, Managing Director and Head of History at Flashback Television, plus Grierson Award winner

Steve Ellis, Head of Media and Learning Technologies, Aston University

Toni Kelly, Head of Learning Spaces Development, Birmingham University

Caroline Ogilvie, Head of Multi-Platform Commissioning, The Open University

Prof. Stewart Purvis, former Chief Executive at ITN and Professor of Television Journalism, City University, London

Paul Sargent, Head Curator, Film Archive, Imperial War Museum

Ian Wall, Founder and Manager at Film Education, plus winner of two BAFTAs

N.B. Any conflicts of interest were removed prior to judging.